Losers of the Year (LOTY) is a rock band from Southern California. The band is comprised of four brothers, each sharing a passion for high energy, well written music and an energetic live show. Among their accomplishments the band has performed at the San Bernardino County Fair three years in a row, The Spice of Life Festival, 'Take One' in Las Vegas Nevada, and headlined Fresh!Fest 2007. The band is also very proud of its participation in several charity events throughout their career including; 'The Relay for Life' which works to spread cancer awareness and raise money to find a cure.

Losers of the Year has also shared the stage with such up and coming bands as The Matches (Epitaph Records), The Pink Spiders (Geffen Records), Zolof the Rock and Roll Destroyer (EyeBall Records), River City High (Take Over Records), The Transit War (Orange Peel Records), Hey Mike! (Take Over Records), Bradley Hathaway, and Day Zero. Recently the band finished their second full length CD and are writing songs for their third.

Losers of the Year is capable of filling any time slot with a mix of original music as well as popular cover songs from todays rock artists. The band has earned a reputation for being professional and respectful toward their hosts both on and off the stage. Losers of the Year is actively booking shows for their 2008 tour. Band Biography

Losers of the Year was formed in January 2003 by four brothers from the city of Victorville, California. The band started out practicing in their parents living room while writing material and learning their respective instruments.

Losers of the Year or 'The LOTY Boys', as their fans have affectionately dubbed them, played their first show at a local "Haunted House" on Halloween 2003. Despite the pouring rain there were over 500 people in attendance. Since then the band has toured all over southern California as well as Las Vegas. And have shared the stage with several up and coming acts including but not limited to The Matches, The Pink Spiders, Hey Mike! and Zolof the Rock and Roll Destroyer. The band has worked tirelessly to build their fan base and successfully expand their reach beyond the High Desert through the use of the Internet, touring and word of mouth.

So far Losers of the Year has recorded two full length albums in a studio they built themselves from the ground up. With their third full length album on the way, the bands sound continues to mature as their audience continues to grow. When they aren't on the road the band can often be seen playing at Karma Night Life and Angels Roadhouse as well as several other local venues in their home town of Victorville.

In 2006 the band played to a crowd of thousands at the San Bernardino County Fair and have been invited back every year since. They also headlined Fresh!Fest in November of '07. But no matter how far they go, or how successful they become, the band has made it a tradition to return every Halloween to the "Haunted House" that started it all.
